Summary: After being kicked into a portal and raised in a new world
Slade Wilson/Deathstroke gets a new contract and job from a coffin princess name Chaika Tranbant who wants to retrieve her father, Arthur Gaz remains. This contract may be interesting since some people will try to stop them from doing so out fear of Arthur Gaz coming back to life.

1. Coffinstroke PrologueSetting

Coffinstroke Prologue/Setting

Another new crossover between Chaika: The Coffin Princess and Deathstroke the Terminator. This is just the prologue and the settings.

Disclaimers: Chaika: The Coffin Princess and Deathstroke the Terminator belongs to Ichiro Sakaki and DC Comics and not me.

Before meeting Chaika, Slade Wilson/Deathstroke was trying to end his final battle with the Green Arrow/Oliver Queen until a strange portal opens out of nowhere and he was sucked into it when the Green Arrow/Oliver Queen kicks him and the portal closes. While inside the portal Slade finds himself starting to de-age, perhaps the portal is sending him to another world were he has to restart his life as child again.

XXX

When he exits the portal he is now a baby again with his weapons, armor and helmet/mask next to him. All he can do is cry for help since he is unable to speak now that he's a baby again but his found by a member Acura family who adopts him into the family. They knew his name was Slade Wilson because they checked his armor but they choose to give him their family name to him and he even becomes the adopted little brother to Akari Acura his adopted elderly sister. While growing up Slade was given back his armor, weapons and helmet/mask by his adopted family and he has worn it again. Years later Slade said he will leave his new home to restart his mercenary work but they asked him to take Akari with him, at first he didn't want because he's always a lone mercenary during his time on Earth but he accepts taking Akari with him anyway.

Life as a mercenary starts with a new beginning.

XXX

This next part is the stuff Slade Wilson/Deathstroke uses for this Fanfic.

2. The Girl who bears the coffin

The Girl who bears the coffin Deathstroke

Now here's the next chapter of a alternated Episode 1.

Disclaimers: I own nothing

5 years after the Fall of the Gaz Empire

Slade is busy searching for plants and foreign food in the mountain forest even using his katana sword to cut some branches for him to pass through. This is because he and his adopted sister Akari live in a small house.

"Man I couldn't even make a living since a mercenary like myself isn't really needed by anyone ever since the Fall of the Gaz Empire", Slade then hears some noises coming from the bushes and he draws his desert eagle.

"Could be an animal, well at least that's food for me and Akari", but instead he finds girl with pale white hair and skin, she has purple eyes and carrying a big coffin in her back like a backpack.

She sees him and Slade lower his gun, but she goes down in the bushes again and he follows her movement in the bushes with his one eye until she emerges from the bushes again and this time in front of him.

"Hello are you lost?" he awaited an answer from the strange girl.

"You bandit?"

"No am just a mercenary un-employed right now. So where are you off to?"

"Me searching for town with people", she said looking around.

"So how long you were up here?" the strange girl started counting how many days she's been up here.

"3 days"

"Then it's assume your lost after all", Slade said to her.

"Shocking revelations!"

"I assume you have a dead body in there", Slade asked her after staring at the big coffin.

"No me no murder", she said to a little surprise.

"Look I can escort you to the town as long you buy me breakfast", the conversations gets interrupted when out from the forest is a man eating unicorn.

Slade grabs her and runs but also ended up dropping the basket of foreign food and plants he picked up.

"Would you ditch this thing already!" Slade asked her after she tripped but she refuses to let the coffin go because it's important.

"Hold on to that coffin for dear life", she did what Slade said as they kept running and jump off a cliff.

"AAAAHHHHHH!" the girl stream as they hit the water and they use the coffin to stay up to the water surface until they reach shore.

When the duo finally reach shore Slade knew the unicorn is still on to them, he even said that mercenaries are not really needed that much now since the Fall of Gaz Empire. This could mean his life has no meaning at all.

"No job, you useless", the girl said making Slade retort to her about that subject.

"Hey is that a gundo sniper rifle and are you wizard", he asked her after she pulled it out of the coffin.

"Correct, need time for magic to work on gundo otherwise useless."

"Ok I'll buy you some time to have it ready", Slade said to her as he pulls out his katana sword as the unicorn appears and charges at him.

Slade tries to slash it but the unicorn use it's horn to counter until it bites Slade's sword forcing him to grab on to it and hold on as it dives into the river with him. The unicorn then chomps Slade's sword breaking it, Slade tries a different option, he pulls out his desert eagle and shoots repeatedly in the neck and head as it surface making him fall off it. The girl in white then fires her gundo breaking the unicorn in half and killing it.

"Both survive", the girl in white said to him as he reaches him.

"You no useless both survive", she said to him again.

"Yeah you can say that."

"You name?"

"Ah Slade, Slade Acura Wilson", he introduce himself and now it's her turn.

"Chaika, no me Chaika Trabant", she introduce himself.

XXX

Long after the battle with the unicorn

"If it wasn't for me you may still be alive I'm sorry", a man in a cloak is wondering if the girl who he knows is Chaika believes she had some help.

XXX

Town Restaurant

"You big meal", Chaika said after watching Slade eat so much and so quick. Not much to say after removing his mask/helmet.

"A mercs got to eat", Slade said to Chaika still eating very fast.

"So this is were I would find you", a female voice that Slade knows all too well said.

"I simply asked you to find foreign food for the both us but instead I find you here feeding with a girl you just met", Akari then attacks him with her over-size war hammer and destroying most of stuff that's in the restaurant while chasing him who is holding on to his breakfast.

Most of the customers are calling Slade a jerk and telling Akari to hurt him.

"Listen Akari this is not what it looks like!" Slade said trying to reason with Akari before dodging her next strike the destroys a barrel full of wine and making Slade's plate full of food fly up in the air.

"Oh so are you calling stupid? Tell me if I'm right little brother", Akari asked even surprising most of the customers after she called him brother.

"Siblings?" Chaika asked after hearing what Akari just said.

XXX

"Your the worst little brother ever, first you buy breakfast without her knowing that she might be hungry and then you destroy my restaurant and force this young girl you just met to pay for all the damage here", the owner said to Slade who is looking at the sealing annoyed because non of that was his intent or his doing.

Outside

Chaika had the idea on employing Slade and Akari after the siblings chat with each other.

"You can take the job or I'll have to pummel you", Akari gave that as a warning.

"Well then I can just kiss my unemployed life goodbye then", Slade said smacking his hand on his mask/helmet.

XXX

Abarth Manor

Meanwhile the Gillett Corp from the Kilemann Agency come to visit the Count Roberto Abarth, one of the 8 heroes who killed Arthur Gaz during the last day of the war.

"Welcome I Count Roberto Abarth and you must be Alveric Gillett, I do know your family is very dedicated, why serve the Agency?"

"I have duty to the Agency Count Abarth. Now listen I know your one of the 8 heroes who vanquish Emperor Gaz and you have one of his remains with you."

"Yes I do Sir Gillett and why you asked that?"

"I want you to hand over to us", Gillett said to him but he wasn't expecting Count Abarth to say this.

"Maid our guesses will be leaving now", he said to his maid as she open the door.

"I obliged, this all depends on your cooperation", Gillett said to him as he Zita and Vivi exit the manor.

XXX

Outside the Manor

Gillett stared up in the manor where Count Abarth is watching them from the window. Back inside Count Abarth opens a hidden vault which reveal to be the remains of Emperor Gaz.

"Hand over huh, I don't think so."

XXX

Gillett Corp

"The Manor doesn't seem to have enough guards and that makes it very vulnerable", Gillett said before changing the subject into Chaika.

The guy from earlier name Matthews reported that Chaika is with someone and that will be Slade Acura Wilson. Also they mention the capture of Chaika that was done by other squads but those Chaikas turn out to be imposters.

XXX

Meanwhile

"Me find special thing, mission no stop", Chaika said to Slade and Akari.

"And what is this special thing?"

"You know when we find special thing", Chaika answered Slade's question.

XXX

Abarth Manor

Akari just return to Slade's side after scouting the whole manor from the rooftops.

"So what'd get?"

"It's all the same brother, not a lot guards making the manor very vulnerable, don't you find that strange?"

"Yeah that does seem very strange Akari", Slade said as he loads his XM8 rifle with silencer.

XXX

Earlier Akari and Slade are discussing some stuff about whether they can trust Chaika or not but Slade trusts her very much after the battle with the man eating unicorn. Suddenly an explosion came from the kitchen and it was Chaika trying to make food with her gundo but it only made an explosion.

XXX

Slade climbs up the sentry tower using his cable wire then knocks out a guard using his gun's butt but he did it quietly without alerting anyone else. Akari then climbs up with Chaika after that they need to get across.

"Open the coffin", Slade said to Chaika which confuses her.

Slade is on the other side pulling the coffin that's attached to the cable wire with some help from Akari from the sentry tower.

"Man how much do you weigh?" he asked because the coffin becomes very heavy with Chaika inside it.

After all 3 of them are on the other side Slade picks the window with his combat knife but it alerted Count Abarth. Slade and Akari started pushing and pulling the coffin into the window and they did.

"Treatment not nice!" Chaika said after being inside the coffin for a while.

"Ok then Chaika can you find where the special thing is located in this manor", Slade asked her as Chaika uses her gundo to locate the special thing that's somewhere in the manor.

"Special thing located, center of mansion", Chaika said after finding the location.

"Alright will have to split up, Akari you and Chaika take the first floor I'll take the second."

"Right", they split as they search for the special thing.

XXX

Slade now aiming his XM8 where he's going as he enters a room but all of sudden the lights flick open.

"I knew you would come, you must be from the Kilemann Agency. Didn't you here the memo when I dismissed you", Count Abarth said to Slade but mistakes him for being a member of Kilemann Agency.

"I don't understand what are you taking about", Slade said to Count Abarth aiming his XM8 at him.

"Oh I think I can understand perfectly, after a brief talk with your agency I thought to myself what's the use of having a treasure if can't put it to uses", suddenly all the weapons on the wall came off and started to hit Slade who dodges them all.

Slade open fires at Count Abarth but bullets stop on their tracks.

"Woah! Does that mean your a wizard!?" Slade asked after witnessing what just happen.

"That's right and I'm more powerful than the cavalier you call captain", he answered and mentions Alveric Gillett as he attacks him again using the dozen weapons that was on wall until Akari burst in.

"Brother!", Akari then throws her kunai knives but like Slades bullets they too stop on their tracks.

"Be careful Akari this guy is a wizard!", Slade said when Chaika showed up as well.

"Wizard?" Chaika said making Count Abarth turn to her.

"Get out of here!" Slade shouted at Chaika until Count Abarth became surprise upon seeing Chaika and said this.

"No it can't be! Your suppose to be diseases!"

What he said confused Chaika including Slade and Akari. Just what does he mean?

END

*Ok Slade can be a little bit like Toru since he takes his place in this Fanfic. Even though I have the DVD of season 1 many lines from every of episode are very hard to remember. ****

End
file.
